Covers CQ	▪ What is the status of this event? ▪ What is the purpose of this communication? ▪ What are the valid contact mechanisms for this communication? ▪ What roles did the different parties have in this communication event? ▪ What are the roles of the parties involved in this relationship? ▪ What was the contact mechanism used for this comunication? ▪ When did this communication event take place? ▪ In what reltionship context did this communication take place?
Example usage scenario	A sales call between John at company x and Mary at company y took place on January 7 2009. In the call John had the role of seller and Mary the role of buyer. The call was made in the context of the long-term relation between comanies x and y, where x is the subcontractor of y. The purpose of the call was to agree on a price for a particular order item., In todays boardmeeting John was elected chairman of the meeting, and Michael was appointed to take the minutes. The meeting involved 6 people, where 5 were elected members of the board and one was an invited external party. The purpose of the meeting was to decide on the price of a new product. However, the participants did not agree so the meeting had to be suspended and will continue tomorrow.
